

Perdomo's lot

Tabacalera Perdomo released its newest line, Perdomo Lot 23, at the recent 2006 RTDA show.

Perdomo Lot 23 is named after one of Tabacalera Perdomo's highly fertile farms located near its factory in Esteli, Nicaragua.

The cigar is blended with Cuban-seed binders and fillers grown exclusively on Lot 23.

Planted in September of 2000 then harvested in January of 2001, the crop was fermented for a year between January of 2001 and January of 2002. The bales were aged for more than three years, the tobaccos were then rolled into cigars in 2005 and aged for release in 2006.

"Perdomo Lot 23 is very special. It was a project that my father pioneered to expand our growing operations in 2000," said Nick Perdomo, Jr.

"My father and I selected a plot of land near our factory that was untouched. We cleared the entire field and carefully prepared the grounds. This land was so fertile that we knew it would provide some incredible tobacco, and it did."
