Tabacalera Perdomo

Perdomo releases Habano Connecticut. Tabacalera Perdomo has introduced Perdomo Habano Connecticut. Originally released with Corojo or Maduro wrappers, the Perdomo Habano line is complimented by these surprisingly full-flavored, Connecticut-shade-wrapped cigars. Perdomo Habano is distinguished by its ample ring gauge, which provides an exceptional blend of three different filler tobaccos from the Esteli, Condega and Jalapa valleys in Nicaragua, combining the full-flavored tobaccos from Esteli, the aromatic tobaccos from Condega and the sweet tobaccos from Jalapa. Recognized as one of the pioneers in packaging, Nick Perdomo has designed all of the artwork for Perdomo Habano, incorporating Perdomo's stylish logo with priceless Cuban artwork from the early 1900s. Each cigar is double banded, with the primary band depicting the three different growing regions in Nicaragua. "Habana" is included on the primary band in recognition of the Cuban seeds Perdomo uses to grow these exquisite tobaccos. The foot band prominently defines the cigar's wrapper. Each blend can also be distinguished by the color enhancements on both the box and the bands: gold for the new Connecticut, bronze for the Corojo and platinum for the Maduro. Perdomo Habano cigars are packaged in hand-stained, Spanish cedar 20-count boxes. The cigars are available in five sizes: Robusto (5 x 52), Toro (5.5 x 54), Torpedo (6.5 x 54), Gordo (6 x 60) and Presidente (7 x 56).
